At the Federal Blaſt Furnace,

In Carver—for Slitting, Platting, and Rolling MILLS.

THEIR ſuperiority conſiſts in being free from holes and honey-combed places, which are commonly found in rollers caſt in ſand, or clay moulds. Theſe patent rollers are caſt in iron moulds, previouſly heated, and will be found to be more denſe, ſolid and durable than any rollers heretofore uſed. Another important advantage they have over others, is, that the necks require no turning, but are immediately fit for uſe, and from their accuracy, run with leſs friction, and require leſs water to make them perform their work. They may be had by application to the Patentee in Plymouth, of Gen. Nathaniel Goodwin, or of Meſſrs. Thatcher and Hayward

PHILADELPHIA,

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 1.

Extract of a letter from Baltimore, Oct. 29.

"I am happy to obſerve that the fever is on the decline in Philadelphia, as it is likewiſe here. From our preſent proſpects, it will ſoon be over—and I hope (without diſputations) every poſſible means will be uſed to prevent its return. Buſineſs here was much retarded, but never entirely ſtopped; the ſtores &c. were all kept open, and with pleaſure I add, that it has now reſumed its uſual courſe."

Communication.

How ſweet are the labors of charity! To wipe the trickling tear from the cheek of ſorrow—to diſſipate the anxious forebodings of poverty—to ſhut the door againſt the entrance of want and hunger, nakedneſs and cold—to raiſe the deſponding, and to pour oil and wine into the wounds which adverſe events have furrowed in the heart—theſe—theſe O charity, are thy divine employments.

It is an intimation of ſacred writ—The poor ye have always with you. Seventeen hundred years have not impaired the truth of the aſſertion. Though the times ſhould be proſperous and plenty crown the exertions of the huſbandman, though the products of the field ſhould be abundant, and peace and health prevail in our borders, ſtill the avenues of misfortune are open and we find the poor even then with us.

But, when peſtilence ſtalks through the land, and the hands of induſtry are unnerved—when fear drives the citizen from his wonted abode, and the fugitives from the city multiply in the villages—it is then that the poor abound with us—It is then that the objects of charity and beneficence increaſe—It is then that the humane and benevolent to whom heaven, with wealth, has given the feeling heart, know "how bleſſed 'tis to give."

The late diſtreſſing ſcene which we have witneſſed, has unfolded the brighteſt traits in the human character.

View the liſt of ſubſcribers to the relief of the diſtreſſed, and let the pious heart expand with gratitude that heaven has ſo extenſively impreſſed its image on the boſoms of our citizens.

Let them not however be weary in well doing—there is yet room for the liberal mind to deviſe liberal things.

A frowning winter is impending—the hands of many will be barely ſufficient for them—Many have loſt their chief dependence in in the death of fathers, mothers, brothers and other near connections. The uſual channels of ſupport have been interrupted, or cloſed forever. But to the reflecting mind more will occur than can be ſuggeſted—Such will not only chearfully contribute to the relief of every object that preſents itſelf, but they will ſeek out the retreats of poverty and wretchedneſs, and to the utmoſt of their ability leſſen the calamities of the peſtilence, and alleviate the rigours of the ſeaſon. E.

New-Caſtle County, State of Delaware.

MR. FENNO,

AS you have favoured the public with a final ſtate of the polls at Suſſex and Kent counties elections, with the Jacobin lamentation annexed, in your Gazette, No. 1590, you will oblige a Federaliſt by publiſhing the following ſtate of the poll at New-Caſtle, with the friend to governments' lamentation.

DEMOCRATS.		FEDERALISTS.
Senators.		Senators.
Edward Roach	1030	Iſaac Granthen	739
Citizen Ray	995	Thomas Kean	703
Repreſentatives.		Repreſentatives.
James Stroud	1151	Wm. Johnſon	885
Rob. Armſtrong	1079	S. Hollingſworth	700
A. Rodney	1074	Joſeph Iſrael	688
Richard C. Dale	1041	Wm. Frazer	668
Nehemiah Tilton	1031	Amos Grubb	657
Joel Lewis	1021	Jacob Broom	655
Elias Naudain	844	Nich. Vandyke	471
		Wm. Stidham	135

What was the reaſon that the Democrats out-polled the Federaliſts in New-Caſtle county, where a conſiderable number of the Electors, who make great profeſſions of their friendſhip to government reſide? Is the Federal intereſt degenerating? no. But it is poſſible that the piddling genius has ſome influence (he having played Quaker ſome time paſt) over the elders of that ſociety that are well diſpoſed to government, and kept them at home on the day of election, while he puſhed forward their hickory ſons, moſtly Robeſperians in politics. Another reaſon is aſſigned. Aliens were ſuffered to vote and the number on a ſcrutiny will be found conſiderable.

Again the election was held open four hours in the night in violation of the election law, which expreſsly fixes the hour for cloſing to ſix o'clock in the evening.

Yet a while and a day of retribution is at hand. Certainly the repreſentativives of Kent and Suſſex will enquire how this adulterated, ſelf-created, French crew, came to out-poll the Federaliſts.

OLD '76.

From the (Maſſ.) MERCURY.

Meſſrs. YOUNG & MINNS,

The following is a genuine copy of a letter, written by the celebrated Dr. BYLES to the famous Engliſh poet, POPE. It was penned when the author was about 22 years of age, was received with kindneſs and politely anſwered by the perſon to whom it is addreſſed—the anſwer being accompanied with a copy of the various works of that Eſſayiſt, on Human Nature. It is a document honorable to our country, and therefore I wiſh it preſerved in the pages of the Mercury.—It has never yet appeared in print. Yr's B.

New-England, Boſton, Oct. 7, 1727.

TO MR. ALEXANDER POPE.

SIR,

YOU are doubtleſs wondering at the novelty of an epiſtle from the remote ſhores where this dates its origin; as well as from ſo obſcure a hand as that which ſubſcribes it.—But what corner of the earth ſo ſecret, as not to have heard the fame of Mr. Pope? Or who ſo retired as not to be acquainted with his admirable compoſitions, or ſo ſtupid as not to be raviſhed with them?

Fame, after a man is dead, has been by ſome ingenious writers, compared to an applauſe in ſome diſtant region. If this be a juſt ſimilitude, you may take the pleaſure of an admired name in America, and of ſpreading a tranſport over the face of a new world: By which you may, in ſome meaſure, imagine the renown in which your name will flouriſh many ages to come, and anticipate a thouſand years of futurity.

To let you ſee a little of the reputation which you bear in theſe unknown climates, and the improvements we are making, under your auſpicious influences, in the polite ſtudies of the muſes, I tranſmit to you the incloſed poems: Aſſuring myſelf, tho' not of the approbation of your judgment, yet of the excuſe and lenity of that candor which is forever inſeparable from a great genius. But notwithſtanding all theſe repreſentations of your goodneſs, which my imagination is able to form, I find it very difficult to ſuppreſs the ſtruggle of paſſions which ſwells my heart, while I am writing a letter to ſo great a man. I am at once urged by a generous ambition to be known to you; and forbid by a trembling conſciouſneſs of unworthineſs and obſcurity. Prompted by deſire, fluſhed with hope, or appalled with concern, I add to the incorrectneſs which I would now moſt of all wiſh to eſcape. In ſhort, ſir, when I approach you, it is with a real awe and reverence like that which you have ſo humouroufly deſcribed in the Guardian upon dedications.

How often have I been ſoothed and charmed with the ever blooming landſcapes of your Windſor Foreſt? And how does my very ſoult melt away, at the ſoft complaint of the languiſhing Eloiſa? How frequently has the Rape of the Lock commanded the various paſſions of my mind: Provoked laughter; breathed a tranquility; or inſpired a tranſport! And how often have I been raiſed, and borne away by the irreſiſtleſs fire of the Iliad, as it glows in your immortal tranſlation!

Permit, me, ſir, to conclude my letter with aſking the favor of a few lines from the hand which has bleſt the world with ſuch divine productions. If you thus honor me aſſure yourſelf the joys you will produce in me, will be inferior to none but the poetic rapture of your own breaſt. Perhaps you will be diſpoſed to ſmile, when I confeſs, that I have a more ſuperſtitious ardour to ſee a word written by your pen, then ever Tom Folio in the Tatler to ſee a ſimile of Virgil with that advantage.

I am, ſir,
your great admirer,
and moſt obedient humble ſervant,
MATHER BYLES.

LANCASTER, October 28.

On Wedneſday laſt the Synod of Philadelphia met in this borough—The following addreſs is publiſhed at the requeſt of the reverend gentlemen:

To the miniſters and to the congregations under the paſtoral care of the Synod of Philadelphia.

Brethren,

THE Synod conſidering the ſtate of religion in our land in general, and the circumſtances of the church to which we belong in particular, and viewing, in connection with theſe, the aſpect of the political affairs of our country, and the afflictive diſpenſations of divine Providence toward a conſiderable portion of its inhabitants, have been deeply affected.

It is a notorious and lamentable truth, that infidelity abounds, and is by many profeſſed without diſguiſe or ſhame: that profaneneſs in all its forms increaſes both in malignity and degree; that the providence of God is denied, and his perfections diſregarded; and that the precious inſtitutions of the goſpel of Chriſt are openly reviled by many, and neglected by a ſtill more conſiderable proportion of the people:—That theſe impieties, as their certain and neceſſary conſequence, have given riſe to immoralities of every deſcription, highly injurious, not only to the life of religion, but to the peace and happineſs of ſociety: In our own church in particular, we have to lament with the deepeſt grief that vital piety is declining; that in many places the external obſervance of goſpel inſtitutions, and even the inclination to poſſeſs and ſupport them, is relaxed; that the number of thoſe who ſeek the goſpel miniſtry is ſmall, while the number of vacant congregations is great, and increaſing without the proſpect of ſupply.

While ſuch is our moral and religious ſtate, we have juſt reaſon to expect the frowns of that Providence which ruleth over all. We accordingly ſee that the tide of temporal proſperity, which we not long ſince enjoyed, and which we have moſt ungratefully abuſed, is in ſome meaſure checked and turned:—Our commerce is interrupted, the fruits of the earth are diminiſhed, our manufactures are beginning to languiſh, and even the peace of our country is put in jeopardy: Infectious and deadly diſeaſes have viſited even a large proportion of our moſt populous and opulent cities and towns, and have fallen with peculiar violence on the metropolis of this ſtate and of the union, deſtroying many, and diſperſing the moſt of its inhabitants, and producing not only diſtreſs and grief among the poor and thoſe who have loſt their deareſt friends, but a general and far felt calamity by the interruption which it has given to almoſt every kind of buſineſs and employment.

In theſe circumſtances who can refuſe to acknowledge that we are called to be humble and to mourn?—to be deeply humble before our God, and to mourn with unfeigned penitence for thoſe ſins which are the moral cauſe of all the afflictions which we feel and fear? To deny the obligations of this duty, and our peculiar call to it on the preſent occaſion, would be but an example and a proof of the depravity which we lament.

The Synod, therefore, have judged it to be their duty to recommend, and they do earneſtly recommend accordingly, that Thurſday the 30th day of November next, be obſerved by all the congregations under their care, as a day of humiliation, faſting and prayer: That the people belonging to our congregations do, on that day, lay aſide, as much as may be practicable, their worldly buſineſs and purſuits, and employ their time in ſeeking with union and with earneſtneſs, through the merits and interceſſion of the adorable Redeemer, the mercy of God in the forgiveneſs of our ſins both as individuals and as a nation; that the miniſters of the goſpel do ſpecially direct the attention of their flocks on that day to the duty of repentance and reformation, and enforce it by the powerful motives which are ſuggeſted by the goſpel of our Lord and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt, and by the peculiar circumſtances in which we are placed; that they labour to impreſs on the minds of the people the importance of ſeeking the favour and bleſſing of heaven, as the only ſource both of their temporal and eternal welfare; that in the devotional exerciſes of the day, both in public and in private, the moſt fervent ſupplications be addreſſed to the Father of mercies, that the Holy Spirit may be poured out for the revival of pure and undefiled religion in all the earth, and that a time of refreſhing may come to this land in particular from the preſence of the Lord; that it would pleaſe the Great Head of the church to raiſe up, qualify and ſend forth into the goſpel miniſtry, many who ſhall be his able, faithful and ſucceſsful ambaſſadors; that he would make all our citizens ſenſible that righteouſneſs exalteth a nation, and that ſin is a reproach to any people; that he would bleſs all that are in authority over us, give them the ſpirit of their ſtation, make them a terror to evil doers, and a praiſe to them that do well: that he would preſerve the peace, the honour, and the proſperity of the United States; that he would proſper our agriculture, arts and commerce; that he would preſerve the health of the inhabitants of our land and ſave them from peſtilential and deadly contagion; that he would graciouſly ſanctify the ſtrokes of his holy hand to thoſe who have lately and peculiarly ſuffered under it; that he would comfort thoſe that mourn, provide for the poor and neceſſitous, and be the portion of the widow and orphan; in a word, that he would confer his choiceſt bleſſings on us by turning us from our ſins, diſpoſing us to righteouſneſs, piety and benevolence, and making us a holy and a happy people.

And we do alſo recommend, that while we are thus humbling ourſelves in the divine preſence, and imploring the compaſſion and bleſſing of heaven, a ſpecial attention be likewiſe given to the duty of thankſgiving for the many favours which are ſtill continued to us, and for the ſpecial inſtances of kindneſs and deliverance which any particular place or people may have experience from the merciful hand of God; and this the rather as our exceeding ill-deſert renders the reception and continuance of theſe favours an inſtance of more peculiar grace, and enhances our obligations to gratitude and praiſe.

Truſting, brethren, that you will give a cheerful attention to the important duty which we have now recommended, the Synod conclude with moſt devoutly praying, that the Author of every good and perfect gift may confer his richeſt bleſſing, on you, and with commending you to his holy keeping and care.

Signed, by order of the Synod,
JOHN KING, Moderator.

EAST INDIA NEWS.

CALCUTTA, March 18.

On Tueſday afternoon arrived and anchored off Calcutta, his majeſty's ſhip Heroine, capt. Gardener. Lieutenant general Clarke, commander in chief, came in this veſſel. On her paſſing Fort William, ſhe was ſaluted with ſeventeen guns and on the general's landing at Chandpaul Ghaut, the ſame number were fired.

On Tueſday lieutenant general Clarke, after having taken the accuſtomary oaths of office, took his ſeat in the ſupreme council.

On Monday advices were received in town from Vizagapatnam, conveying the agreeable intelligence of the capture of the Modeſte privateer off that port, on the 6th curt. by his majeſty's frigate the Fox, Malcolm.

The privateer come in from the eaſtward; and, fortunately miſtaking the Fox, which lay anchor in the roads, for a merchantman, he ran in without apprehenſion; but on coming ſufficiently near, to diſcover his miſtake, he endeavoured to eſcape. The Fox immediately weighed and ſtood out, and after a chace of upwards of ſeven hours got within gun ſhot, when the privateer ſtruck her colours. It proved to be La Modeſte, capt. de Latonner, mounting 22 carriage guns.

The Modeſte left the Mauritius ſome months ſince. During her cruize ſhe has captured nine prizes; viz. two South ſea whalers, captured in the gulf of Madagaſcar, the ſnow Emily's Gift, belonging to Calcutta, a ketch from Prince of Wales Iſland, commanded by capt. Story; the Rattleſnake cutter, and the Blenheim, and two other ſmall veſſels, names unknown.

When the Modeſte ſailed from the Mauritius ſhe had on board nearly 200 men; but at the time of her capture, this complement from the hands ſent on board her different prizes, were reduced to ſixty men. She has been ſent to Madras for condemnation.

On Tueſday arrived in the river the Fox frigate, with her prize, the Modeſte. Theſe veſſels remain at Kedgeree, where ſtock and proviſion of every kind, with water, have been ſent down by government for their ſupply.

Several very fine Engliſh horſes are bro't by the Abercromby.

The above horſes were landed on Thurſday morning and appear to be in excellent order, conſidering the length of time they have been on board.

By letters from Madras, we learn that Admiral Rainier had ordered the Arrogant to join him at that port. The accounts further ſtate, that the admiral had ſent for the two navy tranſports, Echo and Latona.

By letters from Lucknow, of the 4th curt. we are informed that the ceremony of the exchange of the hat and turban had been obſerved between the right hon. the governor general and his highneſs the vizier, in teſtimony of the moſt ſincere friendſhip and good will between the parties.

The vizier continues to obſerve the moſt profound reſpect and attention to the governor; and from the favorable diſpoſition manifeſted by his highneſs, our correſpondent is decidedly of opinion that any arrangements for the public good, will meet with a ready concurrence on the part of his higneſs.

Our letters from Lucknow alſo mention that the Nawaub Vizier had directed boats of different conſtructions to be tranſported on hackeries to the banks of the Ganges, for the purpoſe of accompanying the hon. the governor general on his return to the preſidency; the waters of Goomty not being ſufficient to admit of the boats proceeding by that channel.

BOMBAY, February 25.

On the morning of Monday laſt, the Shah Ardaſeer, captain Dawſon, anchored in the harbour from China, after touching at Madras, and upon the Malabar coaſt. This ſhip is the laſt of our China fleet; and if the precarious character of the Canton market would allow us to ſpeculate upon the tenor of her accounts, we ſhould argue favorably of the enſuing ſeaſon, for ſince our laſt advices the price of cotton had riſen; but it is a queſtion of much doubt whether circumſtances will concur to uphold the price.

The Ardeſeer left Canton on the 3d of December, at which time the retail price of cotton was ſo high as 16 tales the pecul. Such however is the ignorance we are conſtrained to profeſs with regard to every thing that relates to China hiſtory, that in treating of the cauſe of this unexpected improvement of the market, we muſt expreſs ourſelves with the utmoſt diffidence.

It is ſaid, that an inſurrection of a ſerious nature has lately been fomented in ſeveral of the provinces of China, particularly in that of Howquang, which was principally devoted to the produce of cotton, hence the cultivation of this article had been neglected.

The cauſe of theſe diſturbances is aſcribed to the emperor Kien Long having abdicated his throne in February laſt, when at the age of 87 years, in favor of Ka Hing, his 15th ſon: inſtead however of retiring like Charles Vth into ſolitude, and renouncing altogether the cares of government, the aged emperor had ſtill manifeſted an inclination to have a voice in the affairs of the ſtate; in this he was ſeconded by Co Lau, a Mandarin, who had long preſided in adminiſtration, but who at firſt had ſhared the reſolution of his maſter to retire from the fatigues of public life; jealouſies had thus ariſen between the old and new miniſters, which had very generally diſſeminated themſelves through the provinces, the mandarins of the firſt rank, ſiding as intereſt or attachment led them, with the leading parties at court.

Meſſrs. Drummond and Sparkes, had reſigned the management of the company's houſe of agency at Canton, in which they had been ſucceeded by Meſſrs. Parry and Williams, gentlemen lately arrived from Great-Britain: this change of appointment has been notified by the ſupercargoes to our government, and by the board to the merchants of the port.

Juſt before the ſailing of the Ardaſeer, accounts had been received of the arrival of an Indiaman at Macoa from Great Britain; the firſt direct ſhip of the ſeaſon—the Ontario, captain Olmſted, an American ſhip, from New-York, had alſo arrived. Mr. Duncan, the ſurgeon of the Britiſh factory, had taken his paſſage in this ſhip to go circuitouſly to Europe—he would be ſucceeded by Mr. Crichton.

Mr. Beale, the Pruſſian conſul, and agent at Canton, alſo propoſed to return with his family by one of the ſhips of the ſeaſon.

The Panther, captain Speak, we underſtand, is under ſailing orders to convoy a packet to Suez; which it is ſaid will be committed to the charge of lieut. col. Dunlop, of his majeſty's 77th regt. and aid-du-camp to the hon. the governor.

The political arrangements at Poona are ſtill the ſubject of tedious and dilatory negociations; it would appear that each party were deſirous of fatiguing the other into accommodation, while, in the mean time, each is the object of jealouſy, ſuſpicion and diſtruſt. It is become a matter of intereſting ſpeculation to conſider whether the motion of Zemaun Shah will not call Scindea into Hindoſtan, and if he is compelled to quit Poona, whether Nana will be left without controul to carry into execution the meaſures which he has agitated.

Letters within this laſt week from Poona report in feeling terms of an inhuman murder that was committed on Monday ſe'nnight in Nana's camp, upon Mr. Goſſan, an officer in his ſervice.

Mr. Goſſan had arrived in this country as the ſurgeon of the Berrington, Botany Bay ſhip; upon the capture of which by the Malwans, he had taken ſervice as a partiſan with the Guiqua. At the period of Nana's minority he liſtened to the overtures of ſome of his adherents, and repaired to his ſtandard in the Coukan: the fortune of Nana had now changed; he felt less necessity for Mr. Gossan's assistance, and consequently became languid of that encouragement which his late condition had led him to promise; he not only withheld those supplies necessary to support his establishment, but evaded reimbursing those sums he had expended from his own funds towards the recruiting and equiping his battalion.

Mr. Gossan wearied at length with the delays which were daily opposed to his claims became piremptory in demanding his arrears; he had had an interview with Dada Guggera, a man related to and in the confidence of Nana, of whom he insisted upon payment; he was satisfied at the time with five thousand rupees, and a promise of the balance if he would call on the Monday at the tent of Nana: according to appointment he waited upon Nana between the hours of three and four in the afternoon; he was at first denied admittance into the tent, but insisting upon access he obtained it: it is said that Nana retired with him, and sent a Bramin named Ragoo Punt Goorbulna to pacify him with promises, and persuade him to retire; how far he was concerned in the treacherous plot that followed, or how far Mr. Gossan might have provoked his fate by an intemperate conduct we cannot pretend to say; however it may be, Mr. Gossan was reconciled to a further delay by this Goorbulna, who attended him out of the tent, and led him in discourse to a neighbouring nulla; where he took his leave upon the banks of this Nulla; a body of Arabs had been posted, who immediately upon a signal from the Bramin, fired upon Mr. Gossan and his attendants: Mr. Gossan fell covered with wounds, three others were also slain, and several severely wounded.

The Arabs not content with the success of their treachery, after mangling and insulting the corpse, repaired to the encampment of Mr. Gossan's line, and fired two rounds into it, by which they killed three and wounded nineteen of his men.

We understand the European officers, commanding corps in the Mahratta camp, testified the abhorrence with which they viewed this act of treachery, and considered upon means of obtaining satisfaction; how far they have succeeded we know not, we have heard however, that Nana has engaged to make good Mr. Gossan's arrears to his heirs, and has disbanded the two battalions of Arabs that were in his service.

Extract of a letter, dated Head-Quarters, Coodiangurry, 2d February, 1797.

"I hasten to communicate to you the further operations of the little army under Major Anderson; the day after I sent you off my last letter we marched from Coodiangurry, to a place called Monanderry; in our march we were rather unexpectedly, very warmly received by a party of the Rajah's people, who were lying in ambush in the Jungle waiting our approach, they saluted us with a very brisk fire of musquetry, which we soon returned, at least two fold. The firing commenced first in the front of our line, as we were then, in consequence of the narrowness of the defile, marching by single files, in less than one minute the fire had extended quite to the left, when we fronted, and fired about twelve rounds by grand divisions, which quickly checked the enemy's impetuosity; however, they continued to keep a brisk but irregular fire, and thus they continued to dispute the way with us, for near five miles, the object of our destination being a Mud Fort belonging to the enemy. The European grenadiers on the commencement of the action were ordered in front, supported by six companies of native grenadiers, who distinguished themselves in a very gallant manner, advancing and firing alternately from about nine o'clock in the morning until past one, when the whole drew up in front of the Fort, and the field pieces were brought up to play on their wooden towers, from which they continued for some time to shower vollies of musquetry, and defended themselves with infinite spirit and gallantry until about four in the afternoon; we were now only waiting for the arrival of the scaling ladders to storm the place, but here we were unfortunately disappointed, as the Coolies who were bringing them up, alarmed for their own safety threw them down, and run like brave fellows, convinced of the justness of Hudibras's observation—

He that fights and runs away,
May live to fight another day.

About half past four, the grenadiers expressing much impatience for the attack, they were ordered to hold themselves in readiness at a minutes warning, they were accordingly ordered to the attack, when they marched with the utmost alacrity, despising all kind of fatigue or dangers through a paddy field knee deep in mud, where the loss in shoes was very considerable, most of them being left behind, in the paddy field, when the enemy perceiving the rapidity of their movements, they immediately abandoned the fort, first setting it on fire, and our troops soon got possession of it.—Our loss on this occasion has not been so great as might have been expected, considering the awkwardness of our situation, when first attacked, I believe the following to be a pretty exact detail about 84 killed and wounded ten of which are Europeans, viz. 1 serjeant, 1 corporal and 1 private killed, and 1 corporal and six privates wounded, chiefly of the grenadiers, during the following day, a continual fire was kept up by both parties, but with very little loss on our side.

On the 27th a party consisting of one hundred and fifty men, were dispatched for the supply of ammunition, as they marched in the night they reached their destination without any accident or hindrance from the enemy, but on their return next day, they fell in with and were attacked by a strong party of the enemy, a reinforcement of one hundred men were dispatched to their assistance and they unfortunately made their way good to the camp with the whole of the ammunition with the loss of thirty men killed and wounded. As far as we have been able to learn, the enemy has lost one hundred and eighty-six killed and two hundred and fifty seven wounded and one of their principal commanders.

On the 30th a message was sent in, that the Rajah was ready to subscribe to whatever terms the commissioners might prescribe, sending in hostages for the due performance of the agreement; in consequence of which the army marched to this place, to wait the issue of the event.

MADRAS, February 18.

Letters were yesterday received from Tranquebar, which mention the arrival at that port of a vessel from the Mauritius, (the Triton) under Danish colours: the time of her departure we have not learnt. She brings the following intelligence: That the island was well supplied, but the inhabitants in continual dread of the arrival of agents from the republic, to avenge the insults offered to Brunel and his associate.

That the British squadron had left their station off the islands, and that three days after their departure, the Preneuse frigate, and the Brul Gucle Corvette, returned from a cruize off the coast of Africa, and anchored in the harbor.

That captain Losack, proceeding from the isle of France, had approached close to the shore of Bourbon, when the batteries on that island opened a heavy fire on the British ships, and which was as warmly returned.

From Bourbon captain Losack proceeding to Madagascar, where he captured several small French vessels, and destroyed a French colony newly formed on that island: whilst off Mauritius, captain Losack had also captured several small vessels, one of which under Danish colours (Ci-devant Alert Corvette) he released, after an examination, and detention of some days.

Sercey's squadron had not arrived at the island, when the ship abovementioned took her departure, nor had any intelligence whatever been received respecting him, or the frigates under his command.

Whether any of the enemy's privateers were at sea, we have not ascertained, the letters being silent on that head. Several American ships were on the point of proceeding from the islands for India.

By this day's Mail.

NEW-YORK, October 31.
IMPORTANT.

We have received from a correspondent in London, an act of the British Parliament passed 19th July 1797, suspending the operations of the Navigation Act in regard to foreigners trading to the East Indies. By this Act nations in amity with Great Britain are permitted to import into and export from, the British possessions in India, in their own vessels, such goods and commodities as shall be allowed by the Directors of the East-India Company.—And the Directors are ordered to frame regulations accordingly.

PRIVATE LETTERS.

From London, give us strong ground to hope that our commissioners will be well received by the French Government, and that Europe will be soon blest with PEACE.

A letter from Port de Paix says—

"You can have no idea of the distress and cruel treatment our poor countrymen met within the different parts of this island, from our dear friends and allies the French. The situation of some of them is truly deplorable."

TRENTON, Oct. 31.

In Joint-Meeting of the Legislature, yesterday, RICHARD HOWELL, esquire, was re-elected Governor of New-Jersey, and JAMES MOTT, esq. Treasurer.

A Company of Artillery, under the command of Lieut. Marschalk, passed through this city on Sunday last, on their rout to Pittsburgh, from whence it is expected they will descent the Ohio to Fort Massac.

At a Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Gaol Delivery, held last week at Flemington for the country of Hunterdon, came on the trial of George Still, Matthew Magomber and William Denny, committed for burglary. William Denny, was admitted as evidence for the state, and acquitted—George Still was sentenced to ten years imprisonment, and to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and Matthew Magomber to one year's imprisonment.

LONDON, August 4.

Lieutenant-colonel Bell, of the 46th regiment, was on Monday tried at the York assizes, for having killed Mr. C Crigan, surgeon of his regiment, in a duel, on the 11th of April last, and was found guilty of man-slaughter; he was in consequence fined 6s. 8d. and sentenced to one month's imprisonment in Ouse-bridge jail: capt. Foster, his second in that unfortunate affair, and Owen Evans, servant to the colonel, were acquitted.

IRISH SPECULATION!!

Sir H. B. Hayes, for the apprehension of whom a reward of 200l. was offered by government, for forcibly running away with Miss Pike of Cork, is taken, and in confinement. We are favoured with the following particular account of that desperate act:—A letter was sent to the young lady at a late hour in the night, acquainting her that a particular friend of her's was suddenly taken ill, and shewed strong symptoms of death; and that if even she set out upon the receipt of the letter to see this person, it was likely, if very great haste was not made, that death would take place before she, Miss Pike, could arrive.

The latter immediately ordered her carriage, after reading the letter, and set out to take a last farewell, as she imagined, of her friend; on her way, at a place near Glanmire, about two o'clock in the morning, the carriage was beset by five persons, one of whom was Sir Henry, and carried off in triumph to the knight's residence at Mount Vernon. A female was put into the carriage by the party, with Miss Pike, whose business was to soothe the young lady, and prevent fear from preying severely upon her.

When arrived at Vernon Mount, Miss Pike was conducted into the house, and introduced into a room, where a person, alledged to be a clergyman, was prepared for performing a marriage ceremony, in which she was intreated to give her consent to sir H. but she resolutely refusing, he pulled out a pistol, and threatened to destroy himself if she did not comply. Although she still persisted in her resistance, a marriage ceremony was forced upon her, and she was obliged to receive a ring, which as soon as she recovered the use of her hands, she contemptuously threw away. Sir H. compelled her to follow him into a room, where, having tried in vain for some time every art to induce her to favour his designs, he left her confined.

She was soon after released by a near relative of the knight, who told the young lady she was not to be confined, and if she would but be satisfied, and comply with the intreaties that had been made to her, she might command the house and every person in it. The lady's friends, who had been apprised of this extraordinary adventure, by this time had reached Vernon Mount, and rescued her from the party.

Sir H. B. Hayes is the son of a brewer at Cork. He is about 35 years old, and was lately deprived of a company in the south Cork militia, in consequence of having struck lord Donerail, the col. who had refused to fight him. He some years since married a lady of good connexions near Youghall, who left him a widower with seven children.

Miss Pike possesses forty thousand pounds.

PHILADELPHIA,
WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 1.

A gentleman who came passenger in the stage from New-York, states, that, on his leaving New-York, a respectable merchant of that city informed him, that the September packet had arrived at Halifax, and had brought intelligence of Peace between England and France.

An arrival at the Southward from Bourdeaux, is reported to corroborate the foregoing information.

The desirable and momentous event of a general Peace, tho' left a matter of doubt by any intelligence hitherto received, will, in all probability, preclude another campaign.

But evils of the most grievous nature may still beset this country, should the pirates of the West-Indies be suffered to continue their lawless depredations on our commerce.

This consideration urges in forcible language the propriety of immediately equipping our little marine.

Messrs. Girard, Lownes, and Connelly, the visiting committee, have been induced, from the favorable situation of the Hospital, to resign their functions, and in future, to discontinue their daily visits to that place.

The Board of Health of Baltimore, have reported, that not one death occurred in all that city Fell's Point included, during the 24 hours ending the 28th inst. at sun rise.

Southwark, October 30th, 1797.

Whereas, from the multiplicity of business on the part of the commissioners for the relief of the distressed, application hath been made by them to the committee of health in Southwark, to take under their charge the poor of the district, monies and provisions being furnished by the commissioners for the above purpose: The former committee being dissolved, it became necessary that another should take up the business of relieving the poor.

Wherefore, a number of the former committee have embodied themselves under the name of the Committee of distribution for the district of Southwark; they hereby offer their services (in unison with the commissioners) to the benevolent and humane who may entrust any donations to their charge.

Jonathan Penrose, Esquire's ice-house, directly back of his hay-scales, in Second street continued, is the place appointed to issue donations.

☞ The Alderman's Court for the city of Philadelphia will be opened on Monday next, the 6th of November, at the city-hall as usual. Those who have business in the said court are requested to be punctual in their attendance, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

FELLOW-CITIZENS,

There is a time for all things.

The present I conceive is the most proper for the exercise of charity and useful improvements, perhaps, and I hope another will not occur when you can so well unite charity and usefulness together. From the great number of persons who must be thrown out of their usual employments by the dreadful calamity through which we have just passed, you are presented with an opportunity for the exercise of your benevolence by furnishing the means of employing them; which I propose should be by completing the canal from Delaware to Schuylkill, and thereby watering the city; beside the great accommodation this will give to its inhabitants, it will be the best means of cleansing and watering the streets, and will lessen the means of spreading the contagion should we unfortunately be again visited with that worst of scourges the West-India or yellow fever. I will offer with diffidence a proposal, which I hope some more able hand will consider of and improve on, to give employ to many hundreds who must be maintained the ensuing winter, either by finding them employ or by your charity without it.—Let persons in each ward be appointed to solicit subscriptions either in money or, by becoming security for a certain sum to be borrowed of the banks, to be repaid out of the first monies received from the canal, or by a number joining in a company to purchase shares of the canal stock where a share is more than one person would incline to risk. This mode if generally adopted would not only afford you the satisfaction of relieving such of the poor as may be under the necessity of partaking of it, but the prospect of averting the spreading a like calamity should it ever be introduced amongst us.

A FRIEND TO THE POOR.

Messrs. M'Lean & Lang,

ALL that has or may be said in favor of the Role d'Equipage, and on the policy or propriety of our vessels being furnished therewith, will be of little moment; for, condemn our vessels to get plunder our dear allies are determined to do at all events. We have not one single instance of a vessels' being liberated which was provided with this important and newly discovered proof of the neutrality of property. On the contrary, the tribunals even in France, would not be baffled in their predatory views were we to load our vessels with evidences of their neutrality. I am informed our custom house has lately undertaken to require of vessels this said paper before a clearance can be obtained: how far the officers to whom the management of that department is entrusted, are warranted in this step, I will not presume to determine; but it is much to be questioned, whether our government has authorised, and will not condemn a measure so impolitic and dangerous to the hopes and interests of our merchants and underwriters. As peace is so near at hand, would it not be adviseable to avoid all measures which may tend to invalidate our claims for the 25 millions, of which a large majority of the French nation say we have been unjustly stripped? The general poverty and misery among the French, owing to the total destruction of manufactures and commerce, has produced a spirit of privateering or rather plundering, which pervades every part of France and her dominions; and all the papers we can possibly furnish our vessels with, will not save one in an hundred more than has hitherto escaped the fangs of those robbers of the world. Peace being not far off, we had better attend to the means which may enable us to recover what is lost, than to debar ourselves from that hope by an attention to the future. The directory have formally broken the treaty of 1778, and said France would be governed by our treaty with Great Britain; on which ground we shall stand firm in our demands for restitution.—Do not let us raise weapons against ourselves, by saying that our vessels have not been fully and sufficiently documented, for want of this (till lately heard of) thing called a Role d'Equipage, or list of the crew.

PEALE'S MUSEUM.

THIS valuable repository of the works of Nature, so well calculated to delight the mind and enlarge the understanding, is opened daily, as usual. It stands in an airy and healthy situation, and free from the epidemic that at present afflicts the city; it may, therefore, be frequented with the greatest safety.

As an Amusement, the study of Nature is the most rational and pleasing: as a Science, the most sublime and instructive. It elevates the mind and expands the heart. They

"Whom Nature's works can charm, with God himself
"Hold converse."

Many interesting additions have lately been made to this Museum: and the feathered tribe, containing a variety of the most rare and beautiful subjects, is now very advantageously arranged. Waxen Figures, of Men large as life (some of them casts from nature) are here dressed in their proper habits, and placed in attitudes characteristic of their respective nations. Here may be seen the North-American Savage, and the Savage of South-America—a laboring Chinese, and the Chinese Gentleman—the sooty African, and the Kamtschadale—with some Natives of the South Sea Islands. The immense variety and interesting diversity which this Museum offers to the view, may be seen but cannot be described with full effect.

STAGES.

THE public are requested to take notice, that the partnership which has for some time subsisted between Mathias Slough of Lancaster, and William Geer, is now dissolved: but, not as M. Slough insinuates to the public without just cause; as will more fully appear by a letter on the subject from M. Slough to W. Geer, dated the 29th December last, a recital of which is not now deemed necessary. Any gentleman who wishes to be more circumstantially informed of the merits of this business, by applying to W. Geer may have the perusal of M. Slough's letter, and then can be at full liberty to determine whether or not W. Geer is not perfectly justifiable in attaching himself to any other person in the prosecution of the Stage conveyance from Philadelphia to Shippensburg, or any other place.

Now from the liberal and generous support the public were pleased to confer on the first effort in this business, William Geer, in conjunction with Messrs. Reily, Weed and Witmer, is determined to prosecute and carry it on, with every care, attention and dispatch that a zeal to oblige the public can possibly exert.

The above company, who are amply provided with carriages, horses, and every appurtenance to render the passage safe and commodious, inform those who wish to patronize and encourage the undertaking, that they can take their seats at George Weed's, the sign of the White Horse, Market Street, Philadelphia, on every Monday and Friday, to proceed to Lancaster, Harrisburg, Carlisle and Shippensburg. The fare as hitherto established.

For the further accommodation of the public, a Stage will start every Wednesday from the house of Samuel Elder, in Harrisburg, arrive at Sunbury in Northumberland county, every Thursday, and return from thence and arrive at Harrisburg every Saturday, so that passengers destined for Lancaster or Philadelphia, may proceed on Mondays.

WILLIAM GEER.

Lancaster, Jan. 27, 1797.

N. B. This Line of Stages starts from the house of William Ferree, in Lancaster, on every Tuesday and Saturday morning at 6 o'clock, proceeding to the westward; and from the house of Mr. Samuel Elder in Harrisburg every Wednesday morning, on the same evening arrives at Patrick Cochran's in Shippensburg, and returns from thence on every Thursday: performing the same routine daily as in its tour from Philadelphia. mwf

Thomas Armat and Son,

OF PHILADELPHIA,

INFORM their customers and the public, they have removed a part of their merchandize to Wilmington: Also, they have their store open in the city. At either place their friends can be supplied, and their orders carefully attended to.

By the Cumberland, from Hull, they have received a handsome assortment of articles, suitable to the approaching season; and expect to add to it by other fall ships.

Should the sickness prevail in the central part of the city, that branch of their business will be removed to Germantown.

TO BE SOLD,

And possession given immediately,

A LARGE two story brick House, handsomely situated in Princeton. There are four rooms and a large entry on each floor, and five rooms in the garret, a range of back buildings 51 feet in length, and a piazza of 57 feet. There is a pump in the yard, an excellent kitchen garden, at the farther end of which are a carriage house and two stables, one of which is new, 44 feet long, with stalls in the two stables for 27 horses. The healthiness and pleasantness of its situation, and the number of genteel and agreeable families in and near the town, render it a desirable retreat for a gentleman from the city. The commodiousness of the house, its central position, and the largeness of the stables, make it every way suitable for a tavern, for which it has always been considerd as a capital stand. Inquire on the premises, of

ISAAC SNOWDEN.

N. B. To favour those who may take a quantity of Tickets, the prize of 40,000 dollars will be the LAST drawn ticket, and the 30,000 the LAST but ONE:

And approved notes, securing payment in either money or prizes, in ten days after drawing, will be received for any number not less than 30 tickets.

This Lottery will afford an elegant specimen of the private buildings to be erected in the City of Washington—Two beautiful designs are already selected for the entire fronts on two of the public squares; from these drawings it is proposed to erect two centre and four corner buildings, as soon as possible after this lottery is sold, and to convey them, when complete, to the fortunate adventurers, in the manner described in the scheme for the Hotel Lottery. A nett deduction of five per cent. will be made to defray the necessary expenses of printing, &c. and the surplus will be made a part of the fund intended for the National University, to be erected within the city of Washington.

The real securities given for the payment of the Prizes, are held by the President and two Directors of the Bank of Columbia, and are valued at more than half the amount of the lottery.

SAMUEL BLODGET.

☞ Tickets may be had at the Bank of Columbia; of James West & Co. Baltimore; of Peter Gilman, Boston: of John Hopkins, Richmond; and of Richard Wells, Cooper's Ferry.

Observations on certain Documents

Contained in No. V and VI of

"The History of the United States for the year 1796,"

In which the CHARGE OF SPECULATION against

ALEXANDER HAMILTON,

Late SECRETARY of the TREASURY, is FULLY REFUTED.

WRITTEN BY HIMSELF.

This publication presents a concise statement of the base means practised by the Jacobins of the United States to asperse the characters of those persons who are considered as hostile to their disorganizing schemes. It also contains the correspondence between Mr. Hamilton and Messrs. Monroe, Muhlenburgh and Venable, on the subject of the documents aforesaid, and a series of letters from James Reynolds and his wife to Mr. Hamilton, proving beyond the possibility of a doubt, that the connection between him and Reynolds, was the result of a daring conspiracy on the part of the latter and his associates to extort money.

☞ A discount of one third from the retail price will be made in favor of wholesale purchasers, for CASH. Orders to be addressed to Mr YOUNG.

The Philadelphia, Alsion, and Tuckerton

MAIL STAGE.

THE proprietors beg leave to inform the public, that they have established a Stage between Philadelphia, Alsion, Batsto, Hampton, Speedwell, and Martha Furnace, Wading River slitting mill, and the town of Tuckerton, in New-Jersey, to go once a week, and are provided with good horses, a comfortable carriage, and a careful driver, for the conveyance of the mail, passengers, and goods. The Stage will start every Thursday, at 10 o'clock, A. M. from Mr. Daniel Cooper's Ferry, and lodge that night at Joel Bodine's, at Longacoming; and on on Friday, at 6 o'clock, P. M. arrive at Caleb Evans's, inkeeper, in Tuckerton, distant from the city 54 miles, (from the Atlantic 6, and from the Bush Grousing Plains 7 miles) where are good accommodations for travellers, and where are commodious and safe passage boats provided to convey passengers to Capt. William Warrington's house, on Tucker's Island, adjoinining the Atlantic, where are good accommodations, and a convenient place to bathe; the sportsman who wishes to regale himself with fowling and fishing, may at this place be highly gratified, there being at almost every season of the year fowl and fish in abundance.—The Stage on its return, starts from the aforesaid C. Evans's in Tuckerton, every Tuesday, at 6 o'clock, A. M. breakfasts at John Bodine's, at Wading River Bridge, lodge that night at Longacoming, and at 1 o'clock, P. M. on Wednesday, arrive at the aforesaid Cooper's Ferry. It is presumed that no route of an equal distance will be less expensive, or furnish the traveller with a greater variety of amusement, as he will not only have a pleasant sail to the atlantic from Tuckerton, but have the curiosity of seeing on the road thither a number of capital furnaces and forges, and one slitting mill, in complete order, and at work; gentlemen, too, who are owners, or factors, of any of the aforesaid iron works, are solicited to encourage and support this stage (by which they can be so well accommodated) the continuance of which will much depend on their aid. The rates of passengers and baggage are as follows: For a passenger from the aforesaid Daniel Cooper's Ferry to Tuckerton, including 14 lb. of baggage, Two Dollars; for way passengers per mile, Four Cents—150 lb. of baggage equal to a passenger. Postage of letters, newspapers, &c. will be agreeably to law.

N. B. The mail crosses from the Old Ferry.

THOMAS WARDLE & Co.

Tuckerton, Sept. 28. Oct. 5.—2awtf

The Norfolk Mail STAGE.

THIS Stage starts from the GEORGE Tavern, at the corner of Second and Arch Streets, in Philadelphia, every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, at 3 o'clock, in the morning; arrives at Dover the first day, at Snowhill the second day, at Northampton Court House the third day, and on the morning of the fourth day the passengers find a safe and comfortable packet to convey them to Norfolk.

A packet leaves Norfolk for Northampton ferry, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and the Stage starts from this ferry for Philadelphia, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday; puts up at Snow Hill the first night, at Dover the 2d night, and arrives in Philadelphia in the evening of the third day.

The distance on this route, between Philadelphia and Norfolk, is 80 miles less than on any stage route between those places.

Too much cannot be said in favor of the road, which is most excellent indeed. The proprietors willingly engage to return the whole fare to any passenger, who, after having performed this route, will say that he ever travelled in a stage for the same distance, so good a road in AMERICA.
